

Oyez! Oyez!

The North Carolina Bar Association Foundation & the Business and Information Technology Education Section of the Department of Public Instruction invites you to attend the

2009 Law Workshop for Educators

Monday, March 16, 2009 at the N.C. Bar Center in Cary from 8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

- What is the Law Workshop for Educators?

The Law Workshop (LW) is a full-day conference for North Carolina high school teachers who teach Business Law and other law related curriculum. It is also open to teachers who are interested in teaching in those content areas. It is a chance to network with your peers around the state and enhance your own pool of knowledge.

- Who are the Law Workshop Instructors and what will they discuss?

Hear from and interact with lawyers, who are specialists in the specific areas that will be covered. LW is designed to align with and provide instructional resources for meeting North Carolina Business Law, Contemporary Law and Justice, Street Law and additional Education Curriculum standards. Learn about topics in the NC Business Law Curriculum Guide.

- What is the cost and is CEU Credit Available?

Local CTE Directors are asked to cover transportation costs and substitute teachers for the day for Business Law teachers in their LEA.

The NCBAF will provide a Continental Breakfast and Lunch. We will also provide you with the CEU form to submit to your school administrators.

- How do I register to attend the March 16th Workshop?

More information, including the Agenda will be available via the Law-Related Education (LRE) website: www.ncbar.org/lre in January 2009.

- What if I have other questions or would like more information?

Contact Diane Wright or JoAnn Petilli, N.C. Bar Association at (919) 677-0561 or LRE@ncbar.org.

We hope you can join us!
