GLOBAL POINTS OF PROGRESS - Asia: Scientists in Asia made headlines for their discoveries and technological breakthroughs.

In July, researchers in India identified the world's hardest self-healing material. The organic crystal is noteworthy because most self-healing substances used today are opaque and soft, meaning this discovery could lay the groundwork for improved cellphone and TV screens.

Students interested in SCAD [Savannah College of Art and Design]:

Broughton students are invited to join the SCAD faculty for an upcoming virtual workshop in a variety of creative areas. Students may register individually using the registration links below.

Faculty workshop: Crisis and Creativity: Fashion from One Pandemic to Another - 1918 to Now
Friday, Jan. 14, 4 p.m. ET

Register

This talk with SCAD fashion historian Carmela Spinelli will cover the emergence of fashion innovation and seminal growth after the 1918 Pandemic, between World War I and World War II, and how fashion is pivoting in the face of Covid-19. Iconic designers such as Chanel, Elsa Schiaparelli and Dior responded to the crisis with an enlivened creativity but fueled by the social, economic, and political environments of their time. We will examine these time periods and the fashion innovators today that faced a crisis with creativity.

Faculty workshop: From Stage to Screen: The Dramatic Elements

Friday, Jan. 21, 4 p.m. ET

Register

Join SCAD dramatic writing professor Renee Bishop to learn how contemporary playwrights and screenwriters move through the protagonist's journey. An overview of the dramatic elements that make up entertainment writing will be covered along with the history of how MTV changed television and a shark upended cinema.

Sneak Preview into the Business of Beauty and Fragrance Industry

Friday, Jan. 28, 4 p.m. ET

Register

What do Rhianna, Hiram, and Kylie Jenner have in common? They are all game changers in the $550 billion beauty industry. In this presentation with SCAD associate chair Meloney Moore, explore the SCAD business of beauty and fragrance program and how it prepares students to become marketing executives, designers and entrepreneurs in the skincare, haircare, makeup and fragrance industries. Post-graduation, SCAD alumni work with brands such as Maybelline, M.A.C Cosmetics, Estee Lauder, Bulgari, and Chanel. Learn about international study opportunities, classroom dynamics, student work, career prep, industry partnerships and more.

B-Day 9:45AM

SUMMER OPPORTUNITIES

Current sophomores & juniors: Looking for an opportunity to stay in a dorm, and to be far away from your parents, and to cope with the responsibility of writing a hefty research paper? Check out the Summer Ventures in Science & Math Program housed on the ASU, ECU, UNCC and UNCW campuses. Applications are now available and due January 18. For more information, visit <https://ncssm.edu/summerventures/admissions>.

The University of the South would like to invite students to join our Chinese Language Camp! The program's primary goal is to immerse students in the language and culture of China, while enjoying Sewanee's 13,000 acre campus.

When: June 15 - July 1, 2022

Where: The University of the South, Sewanee, TN

Who: Rising high-school sophomores, juniors and seniors. Experience with Chinese language is not required. Students participating in the program will spend a few hours in the classroom each day, before taking their learning outside and enjoying the many outdoor activities available during the summer at Sewanee in an immersive language environment. Given the immersive environment, all students are encouraged to apply. Students should be prepared for a variety of outdoor activities including swimming, hiking, rock-climbing, hiking, gardening, caving, camping, and more! For more information about the camp as well as scholarship opportunities, students can visit the Sewanee Chinese Language Camp website.

Job Opportunities

Amy Peake, Director of Employment for several of our area Zaxby's restaurants, Now that school is back in swing, I would like to reach out to advertise employment. Our Zaxby's group pride ourselves with bringing on high schoolers and helping them to develop workplace skills that will benefit them in their adult working life. Many of our graduated students who go off to college come back to work with us during school breaks.
