TODAY

This week is Stand Up for Others week! If you see bullying, or if it happens to you, and if it is safe to speak up, say something like, "Stop bullying!" Tell an adult you trust. Remember that reporting isn't "tattling." Reporting bullying is stopping someone from getting hurt. Even if you don't think it's safe to speak up, there are many other ways that you can help the person being bullied. Talk to them, sit with them at lunch or on the bus. Kids who are bullied often feel no one cares. By being kind, you can let them know they aren't alone. In student services, you can pick up a kindness card to deliver some kind words and let someone know you care.
