Dear Lacy Elementary School Families,

It is with excitement that I am able to introduce myself as the next principal of Lacy Elementary School as of February 3, 2020. In front of me are big shoes to fill left by Candace Watson who I have very much respected in her role as principal over the years and know she will be missed by students and families.

As I transition from the Director of K-12 Literacy, a role that I have been in since November 2012, I am looking forward to being back in a school with wonderful students, strong teachers, collaborative staff, engaged parents, a supportive community, and a clear vision. I look forward to working with a diverse learning community where students, staff, and parents work collaboratively to foster productive citizenship and academic growth.

My husband, Eric, and I live within two miles of the school and are a part of this community. I have two grown children, Ethan and Lindsey, who live in D.C. and Durham respectively. Even though the household is shrinking in numbers, I am looking forward to growing my family as I become part of the Lacy family!

Within my first two months at Lacy, I will make it a priority to build relationships with all staff members and begin to meet your child(ren). I will also continue to strengthen the positive school culture that exists and maintain communication processes that are currently in place. I look forward to meeting you and partnering with you as we inspire and prepare your child(ren) to achieve their potential in an environment that is safe and supportive.

This is a snapshot of me for now, and I am looking forward to meeting your child(ren) and each of you over the next several months.
